

Every Life is Worth Remembering

Creating a Funeral Service Designed to Meet Your Family's Unique Needs and Values

Meaningful funerals and memorials happen when they fit the particular needs of the individual and that person's circle of family and friends. Linda Mulhall at First Metropolitan United Church will work with you to design a funeral service to meet your unique situation. She will

- Meet with loved ones to gather the stories and listen to the memories. The funeral experience is built around these stories.
- Spend 8 to 10 hours preparing a meaningful funeral experience and act as a partner with the funeral director to create a funeral or memorial service that fits the family and encourages healthy grieving.
- Create a Life Tribute that fits the person who died and his/her circle of loved ones. These services are not only personalized but also individualized.
- Lead funerals in parks, gardens, beaches, mountains, boats, homes, in the chapel here at First Metropolitan, or... wherever best meets the needs of loved ones.

Linda Mulhall MEd, Certified Funeral Celebrant

As a graduate of In-Sight Institute, Certified Celebrant Linda Mulhall is uniquely prepared to serve your family's unique needs. Drawing from her years of experience in facilitation, providing spiritual guidance, as well as leading InterSpiritual retreats and workshops on "Living Through Grief" and "Navigating Life's Transitions", Linda understands the value of a service that is sensitively planned and properly delivered.

Each service will be crafted specifically with and for the needs of your loved ones. Linda will work with the funeral home to ensure your wishes are followed with care and consideration, so that guests and family may grieve and pay tribute in a meaningful and appropriate way. If desired, we will also have access to the chapel or sanctuary at First Metropolitan United Church.

Who Needs a Funeral Celebrant?

- Those who identify themselves as “Spiritual But Not Religious”
- Those who do not have a minister or equivalent or an affiliation with a faith community
- Those who want a special graveside service
- Those who want a Life Tribute experience the evening before a liturgical service
- Those who may have been brought up in a faith tradition but wish to create a service that is personal and reflects their current outlook on life.

Testimonials

When my wife passed away, I was looking for an eclectic touch to her funeral that would reflect the life we had together. Based on interviews with family and friends, Linda wrote and delivered a beautiful, poignant eulogy. It was the focal point of the ceremony and added that special personal dimension that really helped me and the family on the road to closure.

She ensured the entire funeral service met the unique needs of my family. I highly recommend her.

I've been attending Linda's guided meditation group, as well as several retreats, for about two years. She always comes prepared with thoughtful, insightful, well-chosen material, whether it's written, spoken or musical. She has a broad understanding of spiritual practices that is reflected in her presentations, which are a good blend of the spoken word, various forms of music, art, meditation and reflection time.
